

Take a look at this start for the Allies in Japanese Counter-Attack.

Given the hand I have, and all other battlefield considerations, what is the best move here?

Normally, you will want to soften up the enemy first thing with an AirPower Card. I was about to do that, when I remembered this:

No AirPower is allowed with only a 2 of night vision. This also excludes using the artillery for any section cards.

And without artillery, all of the center section cards are pretty unusable, as I only have one infantry in the center, which cannot attack alone.

And at this stage of the game, using Their Finest Hour, would be wasted.

So what to do?

Please follow and like us:

